EMPLOYMENT WORKS MAURI MAHI MAURI ORA

Are you living with a mental health or addiction challenge, and want to find a job?

We can help you find work!

Health New Zealand
Te Whatu Ora

You don't need to do it alone!

Finding a job can be challenging, especially when you have personal health issues. We can help!

We understand the additional challenges you face

We specialise in helping people with mental health or addiction conditions find work or vocational training to help them achieve their employment goals. Our services are free of charge.

Employment Works can give you one-to-one support

We'll link you with one of our employment coaches. They'll help you identify the type of work you want and how to find, prepare for and apply for jobs. We work together to achieve your goals.

The amount and type of support you want is up to you. You can have:

- help you to identify your strengths, set goals and develop an individualised plan of how to achieve your goals
- help with CVs, writing cover letters, applying for jobs and interview skills
- advice on managing personal information around your health or personal circumstances
- help to manage your wellbeing
- liaison with your clinical support care team, Work and Income case manager and employer

Our support doesn't end once you get a job!

We'll continue to support you for as long as you need, to help you adjust to your new role and working life.
